

LIVING VOICE LEADERSHIP TRAINING

Get Your Message Through with Authenticity

Individual Executive Leadership Training

Five intense 1:1 structural sessions prior to an important presentation.

Including materials and videos with exercises as well as consultant advice through a live or a video presentation.

This individual executive voice training program caters to those leaders who wish to be stronger catalysts in their organization and who also to a greater degree wish to speak from their authentic inner core.

The purpose of the executive course is to train leaders to become aware and competent facilitators, including:

- Renew own communication skills.
- Understanding the meaning and knowledge of one's own grounding.
- Learn to solidify the effect of giving both your internal and external voice a similar direction.
- Find your sense of presence by using your voice as a tool.
- Acknowledging your presence and voice as your strongest assets.

We work in a concrete and physical way with the voice, peeling away all excess so that the leader emerges sharp and vibrant.

What Will You Get out of It?

As a leader you will come across as self-confident, speak with impact and clarity and have the ability to convey your message with conviction and simplicity so that you will make an impression. From now on your presentations and stories will be remembered!

"User innovation in my department presupposes that I as a leader dare to let go of the past and try new paths in my work as a leader in close relation to others. What was so Fantastic about Merete's professional sphere of instruction was that it gave me a new and important insight into the power of leadership.

The instruction is both extremely habit-forming and highly recommended."

Charlotte Rahbek, Head Nurse, M.H.M, Hillerød Hospital

"Right from the very start Merete set the scene and with great insight and professionalism she helped us to see how each of us individually could continue working with the potential in our voice.

When it comes to the spoken word, the voice is alpha and omega. You can learn as many technical tricks in terms of presentation that you like, but it's all lost if your voice isn't working for you. An eminent and extraordinary course."

Per Korup-Lauridsen, Department Head, SAMPENSION, Hellerup

"Living Voice Leadership program has given me some strong and fundamental tools for strengthening my impact and authority through my voice. As a further result, I have become more clear as to my own strengths and competences as well as my own personal history. Merete Nørgaard is a sharp facilitator and an extremely professional instructor. Her strong professionalism and talent for creating a pleasant and safe atmosphere has strongly contributed to making me perform at my best."

Patrik Gustavsson, Business Developer, ARC

"Very useful and directly applicable in daily leadership and in terms of performance and presentations."
